

A Letter to Schools

Dear Teachers, Principals, and School Communities,

A Letter to Schools

Dear Teachers, Principals, and School Communities,

We'd love to invite your school to be part of a global project started by a student who believed the world could use a little more peace.

The Idea

This project began with a letter written by a child to her teacher.

With so much conflict in the world, Olivia wanted to do something. She couldn't stop wars or fix everything—but she had an idea.

"Maybe if we start spreading peace as kids, when we are adults there will be no more fighting."

That idea became Kids for Peace, a global project connecting children from different countries, different languages, and different lives, asking one simple question:

"Peace is..."

That's the heart of Kids for Peace.

The Goal

The project is live and on a mission to unite 50,000 schools, classrooms, and individuals from around the world in one powerful message of peace.

May 14, 2026 is our global day of action—when schools will come together to talk about peace and share their messages, leading into UNESCO's World Day of Living Together in Peace.

Every sign-up is a school or individual saying: "Yes, our kids' voices matter. Yes, we believe in peace."

What We're Asking You to Do

It couldn't be simpler:

Step 1 — Sign up

Register your school on our website. It takes less than a minute.

Step 2 — Download your Peace Poster

Once registered, you'll receive a free Peace Poster by email. It's also available anytime on our website. Print it and have your students sign their names across it.

Step 3 — Upload your poster

Upload your signed poster to the Peace Wall anytime before May 14. Every signature becomes part of a growing global message of students choosing peace.

That's it. Even just registering counts towards our global goal of 50,000 sign-ups—there's no pressure. If you have time, you can go one step further, but showing up for peace is enough.

What May 14 Could Look Like in Your Classroom

There's no right or wrong way to take part. May 14 is simply an opportunity to pause, reflect, and talk about peace in a way that feels right for your students.

Here are a few simple ideas:

- Have a class discussion about what peace means and why it matters
- Ask students to finish the sentence: "Peace is..."
- Create a classroom display or wall of peace messages
- Hold a "Peace Day" or flower power free dress day
- Spend a few minutes reflecting, drawing, or writing about kindness
- Share your students' ideas with the world by uploading your Peace Poster

Whether it's five minutes or a full lesson, every conversation matters. Together, these small moments will become a powerful global message of peace.

Why It Matters

Children are natural peacemakers. When they see their name alongside thousands of other kids around the world, all sharing the same message, something powerful happens.

They realise that peace isn't just an idea—it's a choice. And it starts with them.

Privacy & Security

We know how important it is to keep children's data safe. That's why Kids for Peace is built on a platform that takes privacy and security seriously.

Our website is powered by Open Point, a platform trusted by governments and organisations around the world. Open Point is certified to the highest international security standards, including SOC 2, ISO 27001, and ISO 9001, so you can feel confident that your information is protected.

To take part, all you need to do is register your school or name and, if you choose, upload a photo of your signed Peace Poster. No photos of children are required or uploaded.

We do not collect unnecessary personal information and will never share your data with third parties. No child's personal details are ever publicly displayed on the website. Kids for Peace is designed to be a safe, positive, and inclusive space for children and schools around the world.

Our Connection to Round Square

This project was inspired by the values of the Round Square network—an international community of schools in over 50 countries focused on character education, international understanding, and service.

Olivia attends Trinity Anglican School in Cairns, Queensland, Australia, a proud Round Square member school. Through this environment, she was inspired to think beyond her own community and ask: what can kids do to make the world more peaceful?

Kids for Peace is a natural extension of these values, a student-led initiative that puts internationalism and service into action.

You don't need to be a Round Square school to take part. Kids for Peace is open to every school, everywhere.

We hope your school will join us.

Register your school today and be part of a global message of peace.

Let's stand together. Let's choose kindness. Let's live together in peace. 🙌

The Kids for Peace Team

GLOBAL KIDS 4 PEACE PROJECT